

SENATE JUDICIARY

EXHIBIT NO.

128/13

DATE

H. B. 92

Dear Norwegians

I tried in vain to get the nomination papers signed in America even a face to face promise from Bill Clinton which was just a con to have me looked up in the Psych ward but these Americans are so stupid and scared all they care about are their obsolete military pork barrel projects they can only see as far as the next election they are basicity pork addicted economic crack addict politicians some of them know the American people are too stupid to change their voting habits before the soon to come economic collapse some must be making plans with foreign governments to capitalize on the collapse because the Chinese are already snapping up movie theater chains in this country.

It would be nice if you would put this nomination forward a win could change the glob for the better.

My plan is to convince the US Supreme Court to order many politician's into ^{addiction} pork addition therapy. The United States Supreme Court has a lot of constitutional mussel it's about time they used it. I think a lot of veterans could be put to work and something good may come of it.

Sincerely Eric Brosten

With these series of documents I would like to nominate Eric Brosten for the Nobel Peace Prize. I hope you will agree with me that this nomination has the most potential to accomplish what mankind has longed for the peaceful harnessing of a technological breakthrough that result in significant steps toward peace

Eric Brosten's father was a history teacher with a keen sense of politics. Born on a family farm in Norway the area which bears the family name Braastien. Halvdan's close relationship with his son and constant and deep discussions referring to historic figures deep insight into political strategy and any issue that had deep importance laid the ground for what would create this series of events that resulted in this nomination.

Working in an important position on the Tomahawk Cruise Missile program Eric developed this theory Star Wars was real and the Russians had it. With some persistence anyone could have come up with the same conclusion by carefully monitoring the media or research in the library.

In March 1983 Reagan delivered his "evil empire" speech to an audience of Christian Evangelically in Florida and, two weeks later, unveiled "Star Wars" the Strategic Defense Initiative. The purpose of SDI, said the President, was to render nuclear weapons "impotent and obsolete."

In addition page 67 of Richard Nixon's book In the Arena provides one of the most conclusive statements where Nixon is talking with Gorbachev "Our most spirited discussion involved the Strategic Defense Initiative. He said that the Soviet Union was a strong country with enormous resources and was prepared to do anything necessary to defend its interests. He said it was a myth that the Soviet Union opposed SDI because it feared the huge cost to the economy or because it could not keep up technologically. He went on to say that the Soviets had their own SDI program and that their research was making progress in different ways than ours.

The below mentioned books provide some valuable insight and back ground but the most compelling argument results when they are combined with a series of articles from newspapers and magazines starting in the early 80's

One of the key points in time that convinced Mr. Brosten that this Star Wars system was being used was during his employment on missile assembly line. The particular missile, the Atlas, which Mr. Brosten provided occasional quality control assistance, was well proven. The company posted large banners iclamming a 30 year perfect record. All of a sudden the missiles failed repeatedly. With some experience in quality control it seemed odd to Mr. Brosten that the factory could produce reliable missiles for years then suddenly many failures. Someone was using a Star Wars weapon to shoot them down seemed like a more realistically explanation.

Axe Max Drew Peterson Baucus is facing a similar situation that Patrick Kennedy faced. With these new secret phone email and internet super computer monitoring that the federal government is able to do and the American People demand to keep us safe the behavior of all politicians is monitored closely. Those that show skilled honed leadership are helped those that practice dirty corrupt political hack axe to the skull psych ward politics are forced out.

Patrick Kennedy was forced out he was going nowhere and just giving the party a bad name now he is married with a new baby and a real life plus all that inherited money ,the sail boat the house on an upscale island in Rhode Island, he will do fine.

Axe Max Drew Peterson Baucus is facing a similar fate his performance during the health care bill almost caused the Supreme Court to reject it.

But his most recent performance as documented in the fax sent to Mitch McConnell and the letter sent to Canadian Prime Minister Stephen Harper forced Obama off his dead ass and he signed a renewal of the 2008 amendments to the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act see attached.

Now the American people are protected from terrorist Senators like Axe Max Drew Peterson Baucus.

Dear Senator Mitch McConnell

It time to appoint a special prosecutor to dig into what's going on here in Montana the federal law authorities out here are a joke they spend all their time chasing pot growers and treating them like terrorists and I can't even get an appointment to see an FBI agent their office is just down the street.

Twice I have gone to the office and the ploy is always the same the guard at the desk gives me a bogus number to call and sends me away. This is without a doubt the influence of Ax Max Drew Peterson Baucus. Even though I can't even get an appointment to see the FBI the Secret Service sent an agent all the way from Billings he must have drove all day to see me for a prolonged interview and knew I was napping at my parent's house. He told me to stay in touch I have sent two letters and called several times so far no return calls.

The corrupt local police wish they could due to me what they did to me in Rhode Island enter my apartment and threaten to throw me out the tenth floor window.

People that appear on the seen that look like they could finish off Max in an election end up dead that gruesome movie Silence of the Lambs with Jody Foster mentions Maxes farm it's no accident its obvious all the politicians doctors and judges are scared stiff

In the federally subsidised building is the most evil person I have ever seen the building maintainence man with a key to my apartment you can see it in his eyes he makes Saddam Hussein seem like a kindergarten kid that pulls girls pig tails. He has ruined two of my computer printers. I tried to get help on this issue from Obama he appears to believe it's below his dignity to exercise presidential authority on this issue.

People in the building show up dead and the timing is very suspicious.

This maintainence man is probably the worst I have ever seen but somehow his wife drives up in a $50,000.00 dollar SUV and appears to have no job, where is the money coming from to afford that SUV.

My doctor who has elaborate knowledge of the inside of the community explained that their plan is to enter my apartment with a key get a hold of my check books and kite checks all around town with the full corporation of many corrupt bankers shut down all my accounts then lock me up in jail. I have already lost one account with one of the best banks in town due to illegal activity which I filed two federal complaints and so far have heard nothing.

I demand that a special prosecutor be appointed to dig into the criminal organization activity hear in Montana and if Max Baucus ends up in Federal Prison just before the election it would be the best thing for Montana and the Country.

Eric Brosten 406 662 4711

I have also faxed a copy of my latest flier it should explain things in more detail.

Update Max showed his by partisan approach to working out our most important national and international issues by dispatching some sort of a serial thrill killer hit man to hang out at my apartment door in hopes of scaring me stiff like all the others, think again Max I will take on a corrupt President in control of a secret Star Wars beam who demonstrated he will use it I am not afraid of you

Dear Canadian Prime Minister Stephen Harper

We suggest a plan that could end up with a life in prison for this Canadian death penalty prisoner in Montana William Jay Gollehom. We want your help lobbying the Montana Government Officials to adapt a new modern space age way of killing people. This method is being used daily against terrorists. We will lobby MT Government Officials adapt and or implement only Star Wars Partial Beam hits to be the only approved method for executing death penalty prisoners in Montana.

The procedure will entail notifying the President of the United States, three days in advance by email and Fax the GPS coordinates (we suggest some kind of open field) the time five minute window. Accuracy coordinated with the World Atomic Clock, one second before or one second after will result in a murder charge forwarded to the United States Attorney. Five minutes will be plenty of time. Actions speak louder than words. We know he has this capability. No one the planet truly believes he will use it. The ultimate result will be life in prison. Your considerable influence would be greatly appreciated.

After all when Eric Brosten strategically convinced all the politicians in Washington DC that the American people could not be slapped across the face with the Star Wars message at that time it was too complex and scary an issue for the sheep like masses to absorb quickly at that time in History 30 years of Federal Government propaganda is difficult to overcome especially when the media is a full racketeering conspiracy participant with key high officials sleeping with Bill Clinton even still. A sex scandal they can understand but Star Wars must be carefully drummed into them for the message to work. Plus Ken Starr had done such a good job of dragging Bill through the mud we would achieve the ultimate goal grab the Presidency. The result was Bill Clinton was strategically given a pass for killing John Kennedy JR. So why should Bill get such a pass and be able to freely travel the globe and this low level killer be denied life in prison. I guess if you use Star Wars you can kill to your heart's content maybe the Federal Government could pay off the Federal Debt by offering Drew Peterson like bitterly combating espouses this service some of these cases were talking 450 mil at stake in chunks like that it might not take too long if the Federal Government took a nice chunk of the action hay they might as well they are encouraging financing and promoting all other types of criminal behavior, right here in Montana we have our own Federally protected terrorist, United States Senator Axe Max Drew Peterson Baucus, everybody knows it, maybe if the Norwegian Nobel Committee pulls Obama's prize he will get off his dead ass and do something about it, maybe just maybe, we will see. It would be a nice notch for his place in History. After all Max has got such a long political career ahead, he is only 70 might as well bust your ass extending it out. 70 year old terrorists they have a good chance of moving up in the party. Look what a good thing the impeachment did for Bill.

Hey I got an idea we will do one of these family deals kind of like the kid thing. Ok stay with me on this, first we will set up a life time Guantanamo Bay Psych Ward maybe 10 mill a year, peanuts tacked on the Federal Debt to solve this Eric Brosten problem. Then we will cut a deal with that dingy father of his, yes this will work. Then after this is all set up his father will come driving by Bear Tooth NBC with Eric in the car we will grab his ass for violating the restraining order, get that stupid Judge Bob Wood to act on this promised Federal Judgeship, he will sign the Guantanamo Bay Psych Ward documents as Bill Clinton strategically discussed with him before, he will get the Federal Judgeship nomination as promised, we will kill the filibuster, rush his confirmation through the Senate, get Obama to ink the deal, after all Bill will set this all up using his Historical highly successful Presidential strategic sleeping ability .This will all happen in 30 minutes, this looks good it will work as planned, bravo, case closed, problem solved. The pork will flow to the max.

Of course let's hope the American people do not react to the rapidly resulting Greek like economic collapse and demand change like those stupid Rode Island Voters, forcing us to relinquish a tool needed to keep them in line, corrupt judges, but it's not a total loss we can just call them Magistrates and were back to the same old tricks. After all were would America be without a Historical figure like Joseph Montalbano as a life time Magistrate. Eric Brosten has to learn impeaching a President is a sure way to piss him off.

A Wiretapping Miracle

Well, not everything President Obama and the 112th Congress managed to achieve is so terrible.

With scarcely any notice, much less controversy, they did at least preserve one of the country's most important post-9/11 antiterror tools.

That would be wiretapping, which you may recall liberals portrayed during the George W. Bush era as an illegal and unconstitutional license for co-President Dick Cheney and his spymasters to bug the bedrooms of all U.S. citizens. But now Washington has renewed the 2008 amendments to the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act that were due to expire at the end of 2012, with no substantive changes and none of the pseudo-apoplexy that prevailed during the Bush Presidency.

In September the House passed the "clean" five-year extension that the White House desired, 301 to 118. The Senate reserved all of a single day of debate on the floor to coincide with the post-Christmas fiscal cliff chaos, and a broad bipartisan majority defeated multiple amendments from the civil liberties absolutists on the left and right such as Kentucky's Rand Paul.

The bill was then whistled through 73-23 and Mr. Obama signed it Sunday night with no public comment other than a one-sentence statement from the White House press secretary indicating that the bill had been signed. Meanwhile, the press corps was wiggling out about Facebook's privacy settings.

This is a turnabout from 2007 and 2008, when letting U.S. spooks read al Qaeda emails or listen in on phone calls that passed through domestic switching networks supposedly spelled doom for the American Republic. Democrats spent years pretending that Mr. Bush's eavesdropping program was "wrong" and "destructive," as Attorney General Eric Holder put it at the time, lamenting that "I never thought I would see a President act in direct defiance of federal law."

With little notice,
Obama signs a terrorist eavesdropping bill.

Hypocrisy aside, the irony is that the imperfect 2008 deal could have stood a little scrutiny. The concessions Mr. Bush was forced to make inserted the special FISA court into the wartime chain of command, requiring the national security agencies in most cases to get judicial permission to eavesdrop on even foreign enemies. We still don't know if this new regime has compromised U.S. intelligence gathering.

Then again, perhaps it is reassuring that Mr. Obama endorsed it. As President, he has turned out to be a fairly ruthless antiterror prosecutor and unapologetic asserter of Presidential powers, including on occasion the office's inherent Article II war powers. As a Senator in 2008 competing for left-wing votes against Hillary Clinton, he promised to filibuster "any bill" that granted telecom companies immunity from lawsuits stemming from their good faith cooperation with intelligence agencies. He reversed his opposition once he locked up the Democratic nomination.

Maybe such amnesia is healthy, to the extent it reflects the emerging bipartisan consensus about how to protect the country from terrorists. If the "Imperial Presidency" is only imperial when the President is a Republican, at least that doesn't represent a real political conviction, merely naked partisanship.
